

YOUNG-ONSET PARKINSON'S SUPPORT GROUP

While people are diagnosed with Parkinson's at an average age of 60, anything younger than 50 is considered young-onset Parkinson's, or YOPD. YOPD affects about four percent of the one million people with PD in the U.S.

This support group is open to all that are diagnosed with Young Onset Parkinson's Disease and their spouses, partners, family and friends. This will be an open discussion meeting with specific topics addressed as needed. This is a hybrid support group. You can join in-person or at the Zoom link here.
